Alderman Cavalier Johnson, students, launch effort to reclaim city parks from gun violence

Alderman Cavalier Johnson will join more than 50 students from James Madison High School and the Boys & Girls Club TODAY Wednesday, June 22 at 11 a.m. in the 5900 block of N. 84th St. to introduce a six week effort to reclaim the city's parks and playgrounds from gun violence. The event comes one and a half years after the loss of 17-year-old Tracolli Surveyor, a bright Madison junior and respectful member of the community who was just beginning to realize his potential.

“The death of Tracolli Surveyor near this location was a tragic loss, but I hope that we can find the strength to make something good come out of it,” Alderman Johnson said. “We must all work together in this effort to create a safe community.”

Questions about the event should be directed to Khalil Coleman at (414) 551-7373.
