

Midtown Center

5500 West Capitol Drive

Built on the site of the former Capitol Court indoor shopping mall, the newly constructed Midtown Center has a new take on the old model. Three public streets were planned and constructed throughout the site, linking them to adjacent arterial streets. This not only allows the movement of traffic and pedestrians more easily throughout the site, but provides shoppers with more sidewalk area. Smaller blocks with shops facing onto the sidewalks and streets are adorned with trees, landscaping and benches. Literally turning itself inside-out, the center makes a welcome gesture and reconnects itself to the neighborhood.
