Students to Attend PGA Clinics Through Fellowship Open

Alderman Joe Davis, Sr. Hosts News Conference to Celebrate Youth Participation in 10th Annual Golf Event

Ald. Joe Davis, Sr. will host a news conference at 11:00 a.m. TOMORROW, August 6, 2010 at City Hall to celebrate eight talented youth who have been selected to attend a PGA golf clinic as part of the Fellowship Open golf event, the largest golf tournament in Wisconsin that promotes diversity and youth organizations in Milwaukee.

The PGA is sponsoring the youth at their golf clinic on Monday, August 9 at Whistling Straits in Kohler and Alderman Joe Davis, Sr. has been selected as escort to the youth. "I am thrilled for the opportunity to showcase the talents of Milwaukee's youth and to help them share in the amazing opportunity the PGA offers right here in our backyard," Ald. Davis said.

The Fellowship Open Board, chaired by John Daniels, Jr., one of the founders of the event and chairman of Quarles & Brady, LLP, is composed of more than 90 leading members of Milwaukee's community. The Fellowship Open has contributed more than $500,000 to more than 50 youth organizations in Milwaukee since its inception.

Students were selected by board nomination and through the Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater Milwaukee and were chosen for their talent and interest in the game of golf. Press may speak with some of the students at the news conference.
