Charity Basketball Game to Help Family of Teen Killed at Scrap Yard

Alderman Joe Davis, Sr. will help host a charity basketball game tomorrow (Saturday, May 14) in the gym at the James Madison Academic Campus (formerly known as Madison High School), 8135 W. Florist Ave. The proceeds from the game will help with the burial costs from the unexpected and tragic death of Shelton Smith, the 16-year-old who was shot to death early last week during a burglary at a northwest side scrap yard. The gym doors will open at 5 p.m. and the game will tip off at 6 p.m.

The game will feature high-caliber local basketball players for a team from the Milwaukee Police Department and for One Sports Lounge & McDowell Construction, which will be coached by Milwaukee Bucks guard Keyon Dooling.

Alderman Davis said Shelton was a talented basketball player who thoroughly enjoyed playing the game. "This game is in honor of Shelton, so please come and join us for an exciting game that will help Shelton's family during this very difficult time of need," he said.
