Rumble Young Man Rumble Milwaukee

Common Council President Hamilton welcomes Shawn Dove,
CEO of Campaign for Black Male Achievement

For three days, key influencers from a variety of sectors will convene for a catalytic series of events: Rumble Young Man Rumble Milwaukee. Rumble MKE is an on-the-road version of the Campaign for Black Male Achievement's (CBMA) national gathering first held in 2011.

In addition to key leaders from Milwaukee, CBMA CEO Shawn Dove will be among them, according to Common Council President Ashanti Hamilton.

"Milwaukee is glad to be one of the host cities chosen for the 2018 Rumble Young Man Rumble on the road conferences. This gathering of our local grassroots 'Rumblers' in addition to those from across the country is an opportunity to truly roll up our sleeves and cultivate the work we do around Black Male Achievement," said President Hamilton. "Rhetoric is not enough to create change within our young men. They have to be given the tools, resources and the guidance to transcend the challenges they face."

Each year since 2011, the Campaign for Black Male Achievement (CBMA) has hosted the annual Rumble event, which has become the pre-eminent gathering for leaders in Black Male Achievement. CBMA CEO Shawn Dove, along with Rev. Dr. Alfonso Wyatt of Strategic Destiny LLC, developed the theme and title of Rumble Young Man, Rumble! to embody the encouraging and edifying counsels between Muhammad Ali and his corner man, Drew "Bundini" Brown. Rumble solidifies Dove's vision of the Muhammad Ali Center with Louisville serving as the "epicenter for Black Male Achievement."
