Thursday public open house to feature adjusted MCTS bus route network

The Milwaukee County Transit System will host a public open house on Thursday to showcase the “reimagined vision” of its bus route network, according to Alderman Cavalier Johnson.

Alderman Johnson, whose 2nd Aldermanic District will serve as host to Thursday’s open house event – set for 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Silver Spring Neighborhood Center – said MCTS will provide information and recommendations that came from MCTS NEXT, a recent major review of the entire transit system.

“This past summer MCTS hosted several public meetings and gathered public input on how MCTS routes could better serve residents,” Alderman Johnson said. “Thursday’s open house event continues that transformative process and provides residents the opportunity to see what route changes are being looked at to improve overall service. I strongly encourage interested individuals to attend this event.”

New MCTS route redesign concept maps are now viewable at <http://RideMCTS.com/NEXT>.
