Public Father's Day celebration for the community this Sunday

Alderman Khalif J. Rainey said the public is invited to the 30th Annual (Community Unity) Father's Day Celebration this Sunday – June 17 – at Sherman Park, 3000 N. Sherman Blvd.

Organized by Fathers for Progress – a group of entrepreneurs and individuals within the community dedicated to the unification of family and the community – the free event will take place Sunday from 12 p.m. to 6 p.m.

“The inaugural Fathers for Progress Father's Day celebration was held 30 years ago on June 12, 1988 and was a huge success,” Alderman Rainey said. “The overall spirit of the event is positive and uplifting and there will be free haircuts for fathers and sons, complimentary food and non-alcoholic beverages, a karate demonstration, live entertainment and informational vendors representing various entities within the community.”

“The public is invited and I encourage community members to attend,” the alderman said.

Fathers for Progress originated in Milwaukee in 1988 with the concept of recognizing responsibility, fatherhood, community involvement, and positivity.
