Campaign for Black Male Achievement is accepting nominations for Milwaukee's Rumble Young Man Rumble award

The Campaign for Black Male Achievement (CBMA) is now accepting nominations to recognize 12 Black men during Milwaukee's inaugural Rumble Young Man Rumble event on Monday, April 30 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at City Hall, 200 E. Wells St. Nominations are due TONIGHT, April 13.

Alderman Khalif J. Rainey, chair of the Black Male Achievement Advisory Council, encourages city residents to nominate young men for this recognition. The CMBA will recognize six young Black men under the age of 24 and six older adult Black men from ages 25 and up. The men will be recognized for their commitment to the Six Core Rumble Principles: confidence, conviction, dedication, giving, respect, and spirituality. To submit a nomination, please email jeffroman@deruteconsulting.com with the nominee's name, age, email address, phone number, a short bio no longer than five sentences, and how the nominee exemplifies the Six Core Rumble Principles.

"Rumble Young Man Rumble is a great opportunity to discuss relevant social issues, learn about leadership, and uplift young black men in the Milwaukee community," Alderman Rainey said. "We have so many bright and accomplished men in Milwaukee that truly exemplify the Six Core Rumble Principles, and I look forward to recognizing them at Rumble Young Man Rumble later this month."
