Special Public Safety and Health Committee meeting tomorrow on homelessness

On Wednesday, November 28, the Public Safety and Health Committee will meet to discuss the problem of homelessness in the City of Milwaukee. Several private agencies and local homeless outreach organizations will share concerns and potential solutions to the homelessness crisis in the City.

“This meeting will explore a range of possible solutions to address the growing problem of homelessness in Milwaukee.” said Committee Chairman Alderman Bob Donovan. “We’ll hear from County and City agencies as well as private outreach services that are intimately familiar with this issue.”

This meeting will be webcast live at: milwaukee.gov/channel25.
