Alderwoman Coggs to unveil artistic board-up project in Harambee neighborhood

Alderwoman Milele A. Coggs and the Department of Neighborhood Services invite residents and media to attend the unveiling of an artistic board-up at a city-owned property in the Harambee neighborhood on Monday, November 11 at 1 p.m.

The project is a collaboration between the Department of Neighborhood Services' Artistic Board-Up program, the Department of City Developments' Love Your Block initiative and local artist Ken Brown.

The Artistic Board-Up and Love Your Block programs are unique ways for the city to engage residents in community revitalization. Artistic board-up efforts aim to restore interest and vitality to areas and buildings which may have otherwise been forgotten or perceived as uncared for while going through a critical transition. Love Your Block provides grant funding for community members and organizations interested in pursuing block-based improvement efforts.
