Century City to host family-friendly festival and ribbon-cutting Saturday

Good City Brewing LLC on Saturday, August 24th will celebrate the opening of its new facility at Century City with a family-friendly festival and ribbon-cutting event, Alderman Khalif J. Rainey said today.

The festivities tomorrow will kick off at noon and will go until 3 p.m. at 3945 N. 31st St.

Last year the brewery bought the 56,000 square foot Century City One building, becoming the first tenant to commit to a new building in Century City. Good City officially moved its office and warehouse operations to a portion of the 3945 N. 31st St. building in March, and is making additional improvements to the building, Alderman Rainey said.

“Good City Brewing has been a great partner with the city in its bustling development at Century City,” Alderman Rainey said. “I look forward to the continuing enhancements at the site and I strongly encourage neighbors to attend tomorrow’s festival and ceremony.”

The festival tomorrow at Century City – named the Garden Homes Family Fest – was organized by the 30th Street Industrial Corridor Corp. Free and open to the public, Family Fest will include a barbecue, music, family games, beer and tours of the warehouse.
