CHANTIA LEWIS
ALDERWOMAN, 9TH DISTRICT

If you see something, say something

Statement from Alderwoman Chantia Lewis October 16, 2019

There is an old saying that crime doesn't pay, but now Milwaukee Crime Stoppers does. We know that keeping our neighborhoods and community safe takes a village, and with the official launch today of Milwaukee Crime Stoppers, residents now have another tool to access when it comes to reporting criminal activity.

Individuals with information related to criminal activity, including those committing serious felony crimes, and fugitives, should call the anonymous tip line at 414-224-TIPS (8477) or visit www.MilwaukeeCrimeStoppers.com. Anyone who provides information that leads to an arrest can receive cash rewards up to $1,000.

I encourage all city residents to take advantage of this tool to help combat crime in Milwaukee. It is incumbent upon all of us to play an active role in reclaiming our city. So I ask everyone to make sure you share the number, and remind people that crime doesn't pay, but Milwaukee Crime Stoppers does.

If you see something, say something by calling Crime Stoppers!
