MEDIA ADVISORY

MKE Black Summer Marketplace happening today

Today at 11 a.m. the first MKE Black Summer Marketplace, an outdoor marketplace focused on local Black-owned businesses, is set to launch. The event builds on the previous Food Truck Block Party events to move beyond food to include everything from clothing to arts to better represent the many diverse fields of Black business owners in the Milwaukee area. Alderwoman Milele A. Coggs encourages residents to take part in the festivities that will occur during the fourth Saturday of every month throughout the summer.

June's event will also host the official launch of the "Love, Milwaukee" Campaign. Love, Milwaukee is a series of collaborations showcasing diverse community organizations and breweries throughout the summer. MobCraft Beer will be the featured guest brewery on-site to share some of their delicious and innovative brews for attendees to purchase. The event is free and open to the public.
