MEDIA ADVISORY

Bronzeville wood letters return as part of 10th annual Bronzeville Week festivities

The large-scale wood letters that spell out Bronzeville are once again in place along W. North Ave. (near N. 5th St.), and as part of the 10th annual Bronzeville Week are being decorated in partnership with Artists Working in Education, Alderwoman Milele A. Coggs said today.

The huge letters, taller than the average adult, are works of art paying homage to the rich history of artists that lived and currently reside in Bronzeville. As part of this year's celebration, local artists Anna Rose and Zakia Wells of Artists Working in Education will be transforming the letters via artistic expression over the next several days.

"Many residents inquire about the Bronzeville letters, and I am glad that we were able to bring them back this year and highlight local artists in the process," Alderwoman Coggs said. "I invite residents to check out the progress being made on the letters in the coming days, and to visit the final product when completed later this weekend."

What: Large Bronzeville letters art project
