Spring Perennial Exchange Continues Beautification Efforts on the South Side

Alderman Scott Spiker is pleased to share that the Garden District’s Spring Perennial Exchange is set for this Saturday – May 21st from 10 a.m. to noon at 6th and Norwich. Whether you are an experienced gardener or just looking to spruce up your yard, the Perennial Exchange is a great opportunity to pick up gardening related goodies to beautify your home or garden. The event is free and open to the public.

New this year, tomato and pepper plants will be available to purchase for $2 each with the proceeds benefiting the Garden District Neighborhood Association. The Perennial Exchange will take place in the parking lot south of Norwich Ave. with the plant sale occurring across the street in the farmer’s market space.

“Every year the Perennial Exchange supports neighborhood beautification efforts by bringing neighbors together to connect and share over a common passion,” said Alderman Spiker. “I greatly appreciate the Garden District Neighborhood Association and their volunteers who put on this event to make sure we live up to our name of the Garden District, and would encourage those in the district and throughout the city to stop by the event this weekend.”
