Bronzeville Week concludes with farmers market, bike ride, art walk, and more

Bronzeville Week, an official City of Milwaukee event hosted by Alderwoman Milele A. Coggs and now in its 16th year, concludes this weekend with a variety of family-friendly events, vendors, and exhibitions that promote health, art, culture, commerce, and a positive atmosphere in the Bronzeville district for all to enjoy.

Friday (today), August 7 begins at noon with the Bronzeville Lunch & Learn: Housing and Neighborhood Resources. Attendees can expect to gain insight and resources to strengthen their neighborhoods. The event takes place at the new King Library Branch, 2901 N. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. Next up, Lit in Bronzeville hosted by Kalaya Tatum begins at 5 p.m. Taking place at Salute Society, 2372 N. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr., this community movement experience is designed to bring residents, families, artists and wellness advocates together through movement, culture and connection. Finally, Friday concludes with the annual Bronzeville Sleepover for Education. The Sleepover for Education will take place from 7 p.m. today (August 7) through 8 a.m. on Saturday (August 8) at Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. and North Ave.

Bronzeville Week wraps up on Saturday, August 8 with a jam-packed day of activities. First, Pancakes & Poetry hosted by Mario the Poet begins at 9:30 a.m. at Rise & Grind Café, 2737 N. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. At 10 a.m., the Bronzeville Farmers Market gets underway at 414 Floral, 1739 N. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. The farmers market will run until 1 p.m.
