UNIFORM PATROL

To hear the word "Police" immediately brings to one's mind a picture of a police officer in a blue uniform and rightly so. These men comprise the bulk of a Police Department's manpower. In these rapidly changing times and with the expanding use of push buttons and computers, scientists and physicists have not been able to build a substitute to perform the work being done by these men. The lifeline of a community is still the blue line.

There is no one but the officer himself who can perform the tasks required or face the challenges of each new tour of duty. He has to display courage, use proper judgement, be resourceful, diplomatic, and develop his experience so he can put it to good use as situations demand. He must enforce the law but also be of service in rendering aid. At times he is expected to be a doctor or a lawyer, a minister or a social worker, a "tough guy" or a gentleman. He must be all things to all men.

In the statistical section you will see how often the Department has responded to the public. In the vast majority of these cases the initial contact was made by the uniform division and in most cases this was the only contact made. He has always been in the front line -- first on the scene or first to receive the call for help or assistance. He has responded with vigor, skill and compassion and has been received with acceptance, gratitude, and respect.

The success of a Police Department depends on cooperation. The uniform division must work with other bureaus and draw upon their expertise. This teamwork, coupled with an alert and cooperative citizenry, builds a network for unexcelled law enforcement. A department's records reflect this cooperation and teamwork and the facts and figures give testimony to the accomplishments made. The Milwaukee Police Department stands on this record with justifiable pride; the uniform division, with a dedication to its profession, continues in the effort to make it even better. The men, the Department, and the City expect nothing less.

REPORTED OFFENSES IN MILWAUKEE 1959--1968

CITATIONS

John Krause

Patrolman John Krause awarded a Class "A" Citation for meritorious duty. On Wednesday, July 31, 1968, at 11:40 P.M., while off duty and in a tavern at 2526 West Cherry Street, Patrolman Krause observed a man enter, seat himself at the bar and order a drink. Shortly thereafter, two more men entered, one brandishing a revolver, and announced a hold-up. The first man then joined the pair in an attempt to commit armed robbery of the premises.

Patrolman Krause realized the probability of his identity being discovered during the course of the robbery, and although he was in the direct line of fire from the armed suspect, he attempted to draw his service revolver. The movement was detected, however, and the armed suspect fired a shot causing a superficial wound to the officer's neck. Undeterred by the knowledge that the suspect would use deadly force, Patrolman Krause again reached for his service revolver and the suspect fired again, inflicting a critical wound to the officer's abdomen.

Despite his serious wounds, Patrolman Krause managed to leave the tavern and take position behind a parked car, covering the only exit from the tavern. As the three men emerged from the tavern, Patrolman Krause shouted that he was a police officer and demanded their surrender, whereupon, the armed suspect again fired at the officer. Patrolman Krause then returned the fire and seriously wounded the suspect. All three suspects were subsequently taken into custody and charged with Attempt Robbery and Attempt Murder.

Patrolman Tom E. Stieber awarded a Class "D" Citation for meritorious duty. On Tuesday, May 21, 1968, at 10:20 P.M., while assigned to Squad 17, Patrolman Stieber was dispatched to investigate a "possible D. O. E." at 1821 North 18th Street. They were met at the scene by an 18-year-old male who stated, "I killed the baby. It's in the bathroom."

Patrolman Stieber rushed into the bathroom and found a two and one-half week old baby girl lying face up in a wash basin, submerged in water from the waist up. He promptly took the lifeless baby from the water and administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Patrolman Stieber continued this procedure while his squad partner summoned a police ambulance, and after several minutes, the baby girl responded and began to breathe partially on her own. At this time, a police ambulance arrived on the scene and conveyed the child to Children's Hospital. A physician at the hospital stated that the prompt, efficient, and exemplary action by Patrolman Stieber certainly resulted in the saving of this child's life.

Police Sergeant Clarence H. Jabes awarded a Class "D" Citation for his action in rescuing a fourteen-year-old youth from the Washington Park Lagoon. On Sunday, June 9, 1968, at 7:40 P.M., Sergeant Jabes observed two teenage youths retrieving a model boat near the center of the Washington Park Lagoon when one of the youths suddenly cried out for help. His companion attempted to assist by pushing him towards shore, but to no avail. At this time, the boy's head went under the water.

Realizing that the youth was in trouble, Sergeant Jabes quickly removed his gunbelt, hat, and shoes and dashed into the water. He and two other citizens swam to the boy, whose head had again disappeared beneath the water, grasped the boy and pulled his head above the water. Through the concerted efforts of the two citizens and Sergeant Jabes, the youth was returned to shore.

CITATIONS

Patrolman Robert C. Dahl awarded a Class "D" Citation for meritorious duty. On Monday, September 2, 1968, at 8:25 P.M., while patrolling in Squad 58, Patrolman Robert Dahl was advised by a citizen that a boy had been struck by an auto in front of 2973 North Teutonia Avenue. Upon arriving at the scene, they found a number of persons milling about shouting, "He's dead!", and observed a seven-year-old boy lying in the road in an apparently lifeless condition.

Patrolman Dahl immediately checked the boy's heart beat and pulse but could detect no signs of life. He then administered mouth to mouth resuscitation until arrival of a police ambulance, at which time the boy began gasping for air. He was then administered oxygen and conveyed to County General Hospital with critical injuries. A staff physician at the hospital credits Patrolman Dahl for the boy's recovery.

Patrolman Leroy R. Waszak awarded a Class "D" Citation for his action in rescuing occupants from a burning building. On Wednesday, July 10, 1968, at 3:30 A.M., while patrolling in Squad 64, Patrolman Waszak observed smoke billowing from an eight-family apartment building at 4837 South 14th Street and quickly summoned the Fire Department via police radio. He then proceeded to the second floor of the apartment building to alert and lead the occupants to safety, but an extremely heavy concentration of smoke forced him out of the building.

Upon leaving the building, Patrolman Waszak heard several persons yelling for help from their second floor apartment, whereupon, he assisted a small child from a second floor window, as well as several adults who clung to the window sills and fell into Patrolman Waszak's arms.

Patrolman James Schiedemeyer and Patrolman Morris Merriweather awarded Class "E" Commendatory Letters for their actions in rescuing occupants from a burning building.

Patrolman Thomas E. Hacker awarded a Class "E" Commendatory Letter for his actions in rescuing occupants from a burning building.

Patrolman Arthur L. Jones, Patrolman David P. Grudnowski, and Patrolman Gordon A. Gehrig awarded Class "E" Commendatory Letters for their actions in rescuing occupants from a burning building.

Patrolman Joseph Tomasino awarded a Class "E" Commendatory Letter for his actions in rescuing occupants from a burning building.

Sergeant Jerome P. Matusinec awarded a Class "E" Commendatory Letter for his actions in rescuing occupants from a burning building.

VICE SQUAD

In spite of a modern, rapidly changing society the ancient crimes of prostitution, gambling, and drug abuse still flourish. In 1968 arrest figures set all time records and efforts at crime prevention almost doubled.

These efforts resulted in vice personnel giving speeches to 139 groups, primarily on topics of narcotics and self-defense for women. The interest generated within these people is reflected in a greater understanding of crime problems, crime prevention, crime reporting, and an enlightened citizenry for support of police, police requests, and jury duty.

The entire spectrum of vice activity has been under constant review by the public, press, and courts. Much of the constitutional doctrine presently being held has resulted from decisions in vice matters. One poorly laid case may prove to be the one which affects the procedure and policy of every officer in the country. Therefore, the importance of experience, training, skill, and deliberation cannot be over-emphasized and vice officers soon develop into a "special breed," high in spirit, integrity, and dedication.

16 TRAINING & SPECIAL SERVICES

The in-service training curriculum during 1968 covered the following subjects:

Child Abuse and Neglect -- The Maltreated Child
Preservation of Physical Evidence
Constitutional Rights and Testimony
Accident Investigation and Drunk Driving

Civil Disturbance Control
Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs
Shotgun and Rifle Handling

Narcotics
Field Interrogation
Gambling, Part I

The information disseminated in these three-hour training sessions was deemed most necessary in keeping police personnel abreast of our changing society.

New training techniques inaugurated included sessions for supervisory and management personnel at the new WMVS - TV Broadcasting Auditorium on "Police-Minority Relations", and a special training class was conducted on "Common Sense Psychology in Action" in which text and tape recording are used. Information was given to the entire department in a special class concerning the "National Crime Information Center" and future plans and applications were explained.

During the year, 138 Milwaukee recruits and 37 suburban recruits were trained in seven separate 13 week groups. There were also 44 Police Aides appointed during 1968 who received training before entering Milwaukee Technical College, and one-week training was provided for 61 newly appointed school crossing guards.

There were 17 training exercises during 1968 at the Milwaukee Jewish Community Center for the Underwater Investigation Unit. Operations of the unit consisted of recovery of a drowning victim from a lake freighter moored at Jones Island, six dives for evidence, and assisting in maintenance of the police boat.

In addition to the training activities of the police staff, the department engaged lecturers to speak to all members of the department on the subjects of police brutality cases and police-public relations. Breathalyzer orientation classes for three selected groups of patrolmen were held by chemical technicians of the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, Law Enforcement Bureau. Officers were certified as qualified "Simulator" operators at a later training session conducted by these State Specialists.

The Training and Special Services Bureau also engaged in the following activities during 1968:

Cooperated in the programming of police participation in police science courses at Marquette University
Cooperated in Crime Prevention Week and assisted in the development of crime prevention brochures
Directed the preparation of the National Safety Council Inventory Report and the 1968 Fatality Analysis
Inspected all uniform garments and equipment purchased by members of the Department
Scored all of the Probst Reports and counseled employees at their request
Supplied information for numerous surveys from other jurisdictions
Updated the Wisconsin State Traffic Law revisions for the entire department, as well as City Ordinances
Reported and evaluated several pending legislative matters as requested
Personnel from this office were assigned to various speech commitments involving community matters
Experimented in the Video Tape TV trainer field with its application in the training area
Cooperated with the local FBI in the annual Conference with Wisconsin Chiefs of Police and Sheriffs
Activities of the Research and Planning Committee were carried on by members of the Training School Staff

TRAFFIC BUREAU

The operation of the Traffic Bureau embraces the enforcement of all Traffic Laws and Ordinances, the direction and control of traffic movement, and the receiving of bail for traffic law violations.

The prevention, investigation, and recording of traffic accidents is the primary function of the Accident Investigation Division.

In addition to a mounting vehicular registration in the metropolitan Milwaukee area, the growth of the expressway system continues to introduce additional traffic from the suburbs into the inner city.

1968 marked the 5th consecutive year that Milwaukee has ranked as the safest city in the nation in its population class. Traffic safety is a reflection of a total community effort to supply the three "E's" -- Education, Engineering, and Enforcement, that are so necessary for a successful traffic safety program. Education and Engineering have been well supplied by the drivers, the courts, Traffic Engineering staff, the Safety Commission, the schools, and many others.

The third "E", Enforcement, is supplied by every officer on the Police Department with the members of the Traffic Bureau concentrating their efforts in making walking and driving safer. The level of enforcement is reflected inversely in the number of injury accidents occurring. Enforcement continues to be tied to the thorough investigation at the scene of traffic accidents and many drivers are cited for violations as a result of these investigations. The cooperative acceptance of consistent enforcement by the Milwaukee motorist demonstrates the responsible driving attitude that all of the community agencies strive to preserve.

One citation format is used for issuance of both traffic and parking citations, and a strict accounting is maintained of all citation numbers through data processing. Delinquency in payment of citations is kept to a minimum by purging files by machine weekly and mailing delinquency notices to violators for citations more than seven days old. Warrants are then requested for violations more than twenty-one days old. The strict enforcement of traffic laws receives the cooperation of the motoring public, as reflected by the high clearance of citations indicated below:

Communications activity is a direct indicator of the police department's field activities and investigative efforts. During 1968, the facilities within the Communications Bureau reflected an average load increase of 46% over 1967. Telephone calls were about equal, teletype up 22%, radio operator services up 116%, and radio dispatches and squad calls up 92%.

The new radio repair garage was put into full operation. This new facility represents a dramatic step forward in the two-way and electronic field. New equipment and antennae were installed at the Kilbourn Reservoir, using the latest solid-state, fully transistorized equipment. This satellite location is utilized for reception of squads and handie-talkies operating in the North-East sector of the city.

Preliminary planning was begun for the new communications center complex to be located in the new Administration Building. Conferences were held with our staff and members of leading manufacturers of communications equipment to upgrade and update the radio system.

A federal grant was obtained relating to mobile teleprinters and their possible use in police fields. A pilot program was begun in December by the Telecom corporation, and final results will be submitted in 1969.

Another federal program was put into effect which granted our department additional radio equipment to be used in a separate 450 Mc band, different from our normal dispatching channel.

Teletype service increased in total and the addition of the NCIC terminal in the relay center will greatly increase the efficiency of this department, as well as other departments connected to this terminal, for which we assume the responsibility of service.

Conferences were held and plans formulated for a computerized records information system using the central City of Milwaukee computer and future tie-in with the State of Wisconsin computer in Madison, Wisconsin.

The City of Milwaukee endeavors to continue to improve all phases of its responsibilities to provide all police personnel with the most modern equipment available.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION

In 1968, the Milwaukee Police Department released the depicted brochure for distribution. This pamphlet, directed to the parents of the community, attempts to answer the frequently asked questions by parents of:

"What can I do to safeguard my children?"

"What is the Law?"

"What are the guidelines of the community?"

The goal of this pamphlet is to make parents more aware of those laws governing parental responsibility and the conduct of their children.

In introducing this pamphlet Chief Breier stated, "We, as parents, have a moral and civic obligation to bring children up to be good citizens. Parents are responsible for the proper moral, civic and religious training of their children, and these obligations cannot be passed on to the police, teachers, social workers, or community agencies."

Printed brochures have become an established media for alerting the public of their duty to aid their police and of obtaining citizen cooperation. Requests continue to sustain a steady distribution rate of previously published brochures, which covered the subjects of alerting women of what to do if attacked, and of protecting your home, car, and business.

Actual size of handout is 12" x 7"
folded to a size 4" x 7"

AGES THIRTEEN THROUGH SEVENTEEN

DRINKING
Wisconsin State Law prohibits sale of liquor or beer to minors (under 21 years of age) inside the county and outside the county (18) and forbids serving it to them and consumption by them. No one has the moral or legal right to serve any alcoholic beverages to other people's children. The adult who does so may be charged criminally and is directly responsible for any of the serious consequences which may result. Young people should understand that it is not a disgrace to decline an alcoholic drink, and that it is foolhardy to ride with a drinking driver.

LOITERING
Milwaukee Ordinance prohibits the loitering of minors during certain hours. Juveniles under the age of 17 must have specific cause to be out and about after 11 p.m. every night of the week and until 5 a.m. every morning, unless accompanied by their parent or guardian. Penalties for violation of this ordinance are directed primarily at the parents.

VANDALISM
Every year, property damage caused by juvenile vandalism runs into the thousands of dollars. Youngsters should be taught to regard the property of others as they would their own. A lecture and a good example can be a big help now, and may avoid parental embarrassment later.

SMOKING
Recent findings by the U.S. Surgeon General indicate that smoking is harmful and detrimental to health. It is suggested that parents discuss these findings with their children and discourage this practice. Sale to or permitting smoking by those not yet 16 years of age is outlawed.

DRIVING
Parental consent to the driving privilege should be based on: (1) possession of a driver's license; (2) young people's proof of ability to control themselves and the car; (3) a healthy attitude regarding the rights and welfare of others. But you're at work . . . or at home. How can you know if he or she is showing off, dragging, speeding, taking curves at sixty? Check his tires. If they are wearing out too fast, chances are he's driving too fast . . . or even dragging. If his brakes are going too fast, he's going fast, too. And making too many emergency stops. If he's getting traffic tickets, that's the clincher. Once you know, what do you do? Take his license away for awhile. Parents should be firm in their decision to take away the car privilege when it is abused. On the other hand, they should be generous in their praise of proper driving attitudes and careful handling of the car.

AUTO THEFT
Serious thought given by both parents and young people to the consequences involved in operating a vehicle without the owner's consent is stressed. Not only are the lives and property of others affected, but those guilty of violating this State Law may be imprisoned and carry a police record for their entire lives.

PREPARED AND PRINTED BY MILWAUKEE POLICE DEPARTMENT

CHIEF'S MESSAGE TO MILWAUKEE'S PARENTS . . .

Mothers and Fathers:

Your child's safety and conduct can be one of the biggest problems you'll ever face. These problems can't be avoided, nor can the responsibility of parenthood be passed on to police, teachers, clergymen, social workers, and community agencies.

We, as parents, have a moral and civic obligation to bring children up to be good citizens. Parents are responsible for the proper moral, civic, and religious training of their children.

Parents often ask: What can I do to safeguard my children? What is the law? What are the guidelines of the community?

This pamphlet contains a set of guiding principles developed to help achieve cooperation between parents and the Milwaukee Police Dept. in order to secure the safety and good conduct of our youngsters.

One basic rule that all parents should follow is: Know where your sons and your daughters are while away from home, what they are doing, and with whom they are spending their time.

If you have any specific questions regarding the Wisconsin Children's Code or Milwaukee's Ordinances relating to juveniles, contact the Milwaukee Police Department's Youth Aid Bureau, or your local precinct station.

Harold A. Rein
CHIEF OF POLICE

ISSUED BY MILWAUKEE POLICE DEPARTMENT

ACCIDENTAL POISONING

If you have a child under age 5, chances of his ingesting a potential poison this year are 1 in 38. Nearly all household chemicals and drugs contain hidden poison. To adequately protect your child, suspect everything. Medicines, cleaners, polishes, cosmetics, and paints can be deadly. Keep all such items out of reach of your child.

FIRE AND MATCHES

Don't leave your child alone to play with fire. The danger is much greater than you think. When you go out, take youngsters with you or get someone responsible to stay with them. Don't be tempted to leave them alone. The risk of coming home to find police or firemen carrying out the body of your child is not worth it.

TRAFFIC SAFETY

Teach your child to always cross at a corner, preferably one with traffic signals, and never to play in the streets. By all means you should steer your child away from special hazards, such as driveways, vicious dogs, construction sites, and the like. Traffic safety is taught by word and by good example.

FRIENDLY STRANGER

Teach your child to beware of the "friendly stranger," the child molester. For their protection they must remember to: (1) refuse rides offered by strangers; (2) turn down gifts from strangers; (3) avoid dark and lonely streets; (4) remember descriptions and license numbers of strangers who may bother them.

BICYCLE SAFETY

National Safety Council figures show that 80% of bike riders killed by cars are clearly in the wrong. They are struck down because they violate a traffic rule. Immunize your young cyclists against accidents. Teach them traffic regulations and insist they obey them.

LOOKING AHEAD

Drawings have been completed and construction will begin in 1969 on the depicted $6,300,000 police administration building to be located on Milwaukee's Civic Center Plaza, superimposed over the existing Police Garage at the north end of the City's underground parking structure, immediately east of the present Safety Building. The building is to be constructed atop existing structure and just north of the Civic Center Plaza Pool of Fountains. It will be connected by skywalk to the fourth floor of the Safety Building, to which prisoners ultimately are transferred for court hearing.
