Review Of 6th District Licenses Raises No Concerns, Common Council President Says

Today, Common Council President Willie L. Hines Jr. announced that the internal investigation into 6th Aldermanic District licensing matters that he initiated weeks ago has uncovered no unusual activities, according to the information he received from the City Clerk's Office.

“The City Clerk and the License Division have informed me that the 14 pending licenses from the 6th District reveal nothing suspicious and have raised no concerns,” explained Hines. “From this point forward, the License Division, the Licenses Committee and the Council will work together to resume normal licensing operations.”

The Common Council President thanked City Clerk Ron Leonhardt and Rebecca Barron, head of the city's License Division, for their assistance in the internal review.
